In response to the increasing dematerialisation of music, the Hi God People are releasing an EP, 'Suntouch', in the form of a biscuit. The biscuit is gluten-free, handmade by the band and packaged in a resealable plastic bag with artwork and a download code. The code gives you access to the EP's three tracks at http://spill-label.org/hgp. 'Suntouch' will be available in selected stores from next week. Biscuit launch is on Friday 21st October at Kings ARI, King St, Melbourne.

Saved from the cutting room floor! The Hi-God People's appearance on ABC-tv's "Set" programme a few years ago had an interesting ending that was edited from the show in mysterious circumstances. The ABC kindly let us have the master tape and we can present this ending now on YouTube: click here to view we've started an online archive of Bruce Mline's early 80s Fast Forward tape/magazine which specialized in post-punk music. There were 13 issues and they'll make their way onto the web about one per week.

I've dropped the Blog that used to sit here, as I haven't written any entries for two years and I have a constant fight against comment-spam. I'll revive it later on my personal website.
